Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-43 are allowed.

3. The following is an examiner’s statement of reasons for allowance:

With respect to claims 1 and 13, the Examiner asserts that the novelty of the claims, when read as a whole, is the process of “simultaneously displaying with the browser program outputs, the results of a comparison of each browser output against an established browser criteria.”

With respect to claim 22, the Examiner asserts that the novelty of the claim, when read as a whole, is “a user interface machine capable of simultaneously displaying the web page on multiple web browser programs; a browser evaluation program in communication with a user interface, said browser evaluation program capable of retrieving a web file containing multiple web pages, establishing browser comparison criteria, and modifying a web page; and a communication network capable of providing a communication connection between said browser evaluation program and said user interface machine.”

With respect to claims 26 and 37, the Examiner asserts that the novelty of the claim, when read as a whole, is the process of “simultaneously executing a web page file on the different browser programs and applying an established set of rules to the web page displayed by the different browser programs as a result of executing the web page file on the different browsers; generating a scorecard for the different browser programs displaying the web page based on the results of the applied rules to the web page; and simultaneously displaying selected web browser outputs of the web page and the scorecard for the browser programs displaying the web page on the same screen.”

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled “Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.”

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
